

REDDelion-CHIAPAS To Host a People's Forum Against REDD+ in Chiapas

by REDDeldia
Monday, 24 September 2012

From September 25-28, 2012, sub national governments from six countries will arrive in San Cristóbal de las Casas, Chiapas, México, to advance policies of REDD+, a shadow program with which they hope to privatize tropical forests under the pretext of the climate crisis.

REDDeldia calls on the public to attend a series of conferences, videos, and discussions on September 25th, 26th and 27th from 17:30 to 20:30, at Café Museo, Mar-a Adelina Flores No. 10. Representatives from impacted communities in the region of Amador Hernández in the Lacandon Jungle of Chiapas, as well as organizations from Brazil, Guatemala and the United States will present a broad analysis of the national and international implications of REDD+ as a new form of privatizing and commercializing nature.

For more information: reddeldia.blogspot.mx